Teaching Experience

Instructor of Speech Communications and Humanities, July 2008 to present

The Pennsylvania State University, Capital College, Middletown, Pa.

I currently teach Effective Speech courses in the Communication, Arts and Sciences and mass media courses in the Communications program. As a full-time instructor, I teach four courses per semester. At every level, I apply the latest pedagogy and involve students as a community of active learners. In addition, I am currently Committee Chair for the Humanities Newsletter committee, faculty representative on the Student Activity Fund Committee, and advisor to the student Photography Club.

Fall 2008 Courses: Effective Speech; Mass Media and Society

Spring 2009 Courses: Effective Speech

Instructor of Communications and Humanities, August 2007 to July 2008

During this one-year appointment, I taught four courses per semester, supervised the photo lab and its assistants, and acted as advisor to the photo club. Because the communications program resides within the School of Humanities, the goal of the program is to give students a solid foundation in critical thinking, communication theory and visual literacy. In addition, students apply their theoretical knowledge in the creation of a variety of media projects using industry-standard layout, journalistic, audio, photographic, video and graphic design tools and software.

Spring 2008 Courses: Advanced Photography, Basic Photography, Writing for the Media, Mass Media and Society

Fall 2007 Courses: Basic Photography, Mass Media and Society, Audio Communication, Public Relations

Adjunct Faculty, July 2004 to June 2007

The Pennsylvania State University, Capital College, Middletown, Pa.

York College of Pennsylvania, York, Pa.

Harrisburg Area Community College, York Center, York, Pa.

Central Pennsylvania College, Summerdale, Pa.

Courses taught: Desktop Publishing, Magazine Editing, Cinema Art, Basic Photography, Writing for the Media, Modern Culture and the Arts, Audio Communication, Mass Media and Society, Writing About Literature, Freshman English Composition, Media Event Planning
